

10/07/1379

PATENT APPLICATION
ATTORNEY DOCKET NO. 03226/158001; P6867

SIGNAL SHIELDING TECHNIQUE USING ACTIVE SHIELDS FOR NON-INTERACTING DRIVER DESIGN

Abstract

A technique for actively shielding a signal such that a signal driver of the signal only participates in discharge events is provided. Because the signal driver only participates in discharge events, the signal driver is non-interacting with respect to other driver devices. Shield wires are set such that an active transition on the signal causes a discharge of capacitance between the signal and the shield wires.

24498_1

20071379-020502